POLICE MANDATE

Few Halloween Prank-Players Are Arrested.

CHILDREN ENJOY OCCASION

Sam Boyd, Victim of a Cruel Joke, Drinking Sugar of Lead for Gin.

Warned by experiences of previous years, small boys and other Halloween prank players were comparatively quiet last night, and but few arrests were made. The damage to property, such as gates, door bells, and fences, was not great, and very little clothing worn by pedestrians was spoiled by flour throwing. Judging from the stories and the excited way in which they were told at school today, the younger element of Washington enjoyed Halloween, but FOR SALE—In the Northwest section, $2,890. kept within the bounds of propriety and

Major Sylvester's mandate to prevent flour throwing and damage to property frightened the prank players. They cut out the objectionable part of the cele-bration and indulged in milder amusements. Hundreds of boys masqueraded in their sisters' or mothers' clothes, grotesque uniforms and dresses were donned by pretty giris and school children, and there were several hundred more ebony-hued individuals in the District last night after dark than there were before night after dark than there we sunset.

Some few hundred windows rattled from contact with the tick-tacks, many new fangled noise-making devices were brought into play, a few pocketbooks were tied to strings and placed under a street lamp, to be jerked away just as some one stooped down to pick it up, and pleces of rope were stretched across the street to trip unwary pedestrians. Some Rough Pranks.

Boys in one locality even tied a piece two horses were thrown down and bruised about the breast.

At Ninth and F Streets northwest three boys carrying a shoe box walked to the crossing policeman there and asked him if he had ever seen a red bat.

NEAR 22d ST. N. W.—Corner store; 7 rooms and bath; cellar. Rent $18 per month. Price, $2,800. asked him if he had ever seen a red bat. The bluecoat was taken in by the musty guy, and said he never had. He was told to put his eyes to the two holes in the box, and he saw a brick bat in the box one moment, and the next he saw stars. One of the three boys, who had been standing with his hands behind his back, fayed the policeman with a harrel stave as he stooped over, and another one knocked his helmet off with an Irish potato which had long since gone to the bad.

Price, $2, 90.

Cruel Joke on Sam Boyd.

Sam Boyd, a negro, forty years old, ad a cruel joke played upon him while COME OUT SUNDAYworking at the livery stable at 811 Nine-teenth Street northwest. Several boys brought to him a bottle containing a watery looking liquor, which they said was gin, and the bottle was so labeled. Sam took a healthy man's swallow, and the next minute he was solicitous of having the fire department called out, for he almost burned a hole in his mouth. He was taken to the Emergency-Hespital, where it was found that he had partaken of a solution of sugar of lead and other ingredients, which helped to make the mixture hot stuff. The stomach pump was used to advantage, and Samuel returned to the stable.

Rose Davenport, a negro, twenty-two years oid, living at 334 Hughes Alley northwest, was struck on the head with what the police call a "Halloween brick." From the extent of the injuries inflicted on the left side of Rose's base a Halloween brick." Halloween brick is no softer than any ther kind.

Struck on the head with a piece of lass, thrown by Celia Monday, a negro, rene Triplett, twenty years old, living at 211 Draper's court southwest, was ainfully injured and removed to the Emergency Hospital. She told the polec of the Fourth precinct that Celia
